ANCIENT JERUSALEM,

A LARGE AND BEAUTIFUL

ISOMETRICAL PICTURE

OF

JERUSALEM

And the Sacred Places Surrounding the HOLY CITY,

AS THEY APPEARED IN ANCIENT TIMES.

The above work is commended to the favorable notice of clergymen, and those having charge of Sunday-schools, Bible-classes, and public institutions.

It is about 9 feet long and 6 feet wide, colored and varnished, and mounted on canvas with rollers.

It has been constructed from the most reliable and authentic sources, and will be found an invaluable aid to those engaged in lecturing on the Holy Land, or in imparting instruction to school classes on the subject to which it refers.

It aims to give an exact idea of the city as it appeared in ancient times. It is taken as a "bird's eye" or "balloon" view, the beholder being, in imagination, placed at a considerable elevation, so as to take a comprehensive view of the city and the whole country for some distance around.

The view is accompanied with an Outline Key, in which the different localities are numbered, and a Descriptive Manual containing all the information necessary to enable one to use the view to advantage in teaching or lecturing.

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL TIMES.

This is a Weekly Religious Paper, published at the very low price of ONE DOLLAR A YEAR. It is designed for Parents, Teachers, and all who are engaged or interested in the religious training of the young. It is also a excellent Family Paper.

A portion of the Sunday-School Times is occupied with Narratives and other matter particularly interesting to young persons. Teachers will find in it much that they will like to read to their classes—interesting matter prepared to their hands, and such as they cannot find elsewhere. For the same reasons, members of Bible-classes, and the older scholars generally, will be greatly benefited by the perusal of this paper.

The Sunday-School Times has every week a report of the choicest matter, selected from the Noon Prayer Meetings, which are so interesting to all classes of Christians.

Besides a large amount of general religious intelligence, the Sunday-School Times contains all the most recent Sunday-school news. It reports all the important Conventions of Sunday-school teachers. It discusses the questions which most interest and perplex teachers and parents, respecting the various methods of Religious Training for the young, the means of gaining the attention and affections of children, and especially of securing their conversion and bringing them to Christ. The subject of Mission-Schools for cities, and of Sunday-school missionary work for the interior, is thoroughly canvassed. Indeed, there is hardly a topic of practical importance to any who are interested in the subject of religious education, which is not here brought under consideration from week to week.

The conductors of this paper endeavor to remember, that the great end of all Christian effort is to bring men to Christ. They aim accordingly, to put into every number of the paper something which shall have for its direct object the conversion of souls.

SPECIAL OFFER.

The proprietors of the Sunday-School Times have acquired the exclusive right of sale of the splendid work mentioned above, the MAP OF ANCIENT JERUSALEM, offer it as a special premium to those superintendents, teachers, or others, who will assist in getting new subscribers to the paper.

We offer this superb premium to any one who will send us the names of 12 new subscribers and $12 in cash. CAUTION.

☞ In every case, before beginning to canvass, be sure to write to us and obtain the necessary documents and instructions. These will help you greatly in prosecuting the work, and will save you many mistakes. Enclose 5 cents to pay postage. Address PROPRIETORS OF THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL TIMES, 148 South Fourth street, Philadelphia.

N. B.—Specimens of the Sunday-School Times, and a copy of the Map of Ancient Jerusalem, may be seen at the Bookstore of WM. LEWIS, Huntingdon. April 10, 1861.-4t.

The Proprietor, a practical Photographer, attends personally, every sitting—and allows no picture to leave the Gallery unless it gives perfect satisfaction.

Daguerreotypes and Ambrotypes, of absent or deceased friends, photographed to any required size, taken on Canvas, life size, and painted in Oil by the best Artists.

At this Gallery pictures can be taken in any weather—as perfect in cloudy days as when the sun shines.

Persons visiting the city are respectfully invited to examine our specimens, which for price and quality defy competition.

☞ Instructions given in the art of Photography. R. NEWELL, GALLERY OF ART, 724 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

COMMENDATIONS:

From Hon. Lewis D. Campbell, M. C., Ohio.

My family and friends all concur in the opinion that the (Newell) picture is more life-like than any thing they ever saw. My likeness has been repeatedly taken by different Artists in various ways, but I have never yet had one which presents so true to nature, all the features and expressions of countenance as this.

From Hon. E. Joy Morris, late Minister to Italy.

The exquisite finish, beauty and softness of your portraits, combined with their durability of color and faithfulness as likenesses, cannot fail to commend them to the attention and patronage of all who appreciate true art.

From Col. James Page.

Having occasion for a portrait, I procured one from Mr. Robert Newell, of the city of Philadelphia, a miniature in Oil Colors, under the new process discovered by him, and take great pleasure in expressing the satisfaction given me, not only by the accuracy of the likeness, but its artistic finish in all respects, and recommends him to the patronage of those disposed to encourage the beautiful art. The Star-Spangled Banner.

Oh! say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there!
Oh! say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam;
'Tis full glory reflected, now shines on the stream—
'Tis the star-spangled banner! Oh, long may it wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war, and the battle's confusion,
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wash'd out their foul footstep's pollution!
No refuge could save the hireling and slave,
From the terror of flight or the gloom the grave!
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved home and war's desolation!
Blessed with victory and peace, may the Heaven-rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto—"In God is our trust!"
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

Letter from the Editor.

HAGERSTOWN, June 18—8 a. m.

DEAR GLOBE:—Yesterday (Monday) morning at 5 o'clock, we started on foot for a second visit to Williamsport, a distance of 6½ miles from this place. We had determined to witness before we returned home, the fording of the river, which was about two hundred and fifty yards wide and three and a half feet deep. The town was full of soldiers and visitors,—much noise and confusion. At 2 o'clock we visited the river shore—could see no evidence on the Virginia side that any portion of our army had crossed over the day previous. The idea of raising a flag on the soil of the rebels struck us very forcibly, and our motion being seconded by the crowd, military and citizens, a good sized flag was furnished by a lady, and in company with the following soldiers who were on guard at the river, and permitted by the Captain to accompany us, we started in a small flat boat for the opposite shore. The boat's crew were, ourself, Tobias Sibel, Comp. I, 23d Reg. Phila. Guards; John W. Williamson, Comp. F, 20th Reg. Scott Legion; Joseph Andrews and Charles Preusch, Comp. F, 21st Reg.; Michael Warner, Comp. C, Charles Peters, Comp. B, and Andrew Connel, Comp. A, 21st Reg.; Geo. Brown, Comp. I, and James Green, Comp. G, 6th Reg.—All Pennsylvania volunteers. We made the middle of the river, when by some mismanagement, the flat sunk, all the soldiers plunging into the water, some of them completely under, leaving us in the boat standing in the water breast deep. In a second we were relieved by private Sibel who came to our assistance and hand in hand we made for the Virginia shore, which we reached soldier fashion, well soaked to the skin. Charles Preusch then mounted a high tree immediately in front of the town and placed the flag on the highest branch, when cheer after cheer was given by the crew and the crowd on the Williamsport side. We returned to Williamsport, pilotted by Williamson, where we remained until 5 o'clock, when eight hundred regulars, several companies of cavalry and artillery, made their appearance on the opposite side. They had received orders to return, and as was supposed, to take the quickest route to Washington. They forded the river, and a more beautiful sight was never witnessed. We walked back to this place with the soldiers, in our wet condition, and took a soldier's advice and did not change our clothing until we went to bed, when they were comfortably dry. The satisfaction of participating in the raising of the first flag on the Virginia shore opposite Williamsport, and of witnessing the grand movement of the army through the river, was glory enough for one day and we retired to rest at an early hour.

This morning all was confusion about the hotel and we soon learned that not only the soldiers who returned to Hagerstown the night before, but that all other Regiments in the neighborhood had again left for Virginia by Williamsport, leaving behind a large number of officers who had taken lodging in town. All we could learn was that all the Regiments, some twenty-five thousand men had received orders at 2 o'clock for a forced march without rations, into Virginia, and that they had left for parts unknown.

As the army has left us we shall return home to-morrow. W. L.

THE BATTERY AT CAMP MCDOWELL.—We have before us a draft of the battery at Camp McDowell, near Alexandria, Va., occupied in part by the Pennsylvania 5th regiment, to which the "Standing Stone Guards" are attached. The draft was taken by Joseph H. Thompson, a member of the Guards, and it presents a formidable appearance, and can be seen at this office.

WAR NEWS.

Another Skirmish in Virginia.

BALTIMORE, June 18.—The Washington papers of this morning state that a train of cars was despatched from Alexandria yesterday afternoon to Vienna, taking Col. McCook's First Ohio Regiment, accompanied by Gen. Schenck. They dropped companies along the line, for the purpose of protecting the telegraphic corps, and reached Vienna with only three companies, when a masked battery was opened upon them, killing eight and wounding several. Mr. Barnes, editor of the Cleveland Herald is among the killed.

[Special despatch to The Press.]

WASHINGTON, June 18.—From E. Jacobs, Esq., of Ohio who was on the train with the Ohio regiment when the attack was made upon the train yesterday, I gather a number of important and reliable facts, in reference to the surprise and attack from the masked battery of the rebel forces, near Vienna, Virginia.

At one o'clock yesterday a train was despatched out on the Loudon and Hampshire road from Alexandria, containing the First Ohio Regiment, Col. McCook and Brigadier General Schenck. The object of the expedition was to repair the road and bridges.—Companies were dropped along the road at points where labor was to be performed, until the train had advanced twelve miles into the country, and was within three miles of Vienna. It was then between two and three o'clock P. M. Here a masked battery opened upon the train. Five men, sitting upon the engine, fell, and one of the cylinders of the engine was carried away by a ball. Our men, being unprotected, were instantly thrown into confusion. A part of them sought protection from their close proximity to the battery, still blazing away, and pouring grape upon them, by breaking from the main body and rushing into the forest on both sides of the train; another body of them advanced upon the battery with heroic purpose, but were ordered back by their officers. A portion of the men remained in the car. Orders were given to the engineer to back his engine; as it moved, under a volley of shot, two of the dead were picked up and carried away. An effort was made to get another man, who had fallen from the train and was in the agonies of death; but he begged of them to leave him and take care of themselves. He was left in a dying condition. Orders were given, "All on board," but many of those who had got into the woods did not return.—The train ran down three miles, where they had left two companies of the regiment.

There were, it was thought, at least seven killed and ten to thirteen wounded.

LATER.

Telegraphic despatches to General Scott, the War Department, and to Sec. Seward, are essentially the same excepting in the number of killed and wounded. But, as far as I can gather, the number killed is 15 and 40 wounded on our side. Our troops made several volleys upon the battery, and it is believed a number were killed. The Federal troops were eager to rush upon the battery, but were prudently ordered to refrain, from the fact of the superior strength of the enemy, which was, as nearly as can be ascertained, about 1,500.

The Late Federal Victory at Booneville, Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—The Democrat has just received the following dispatch from Jefferson city:

"Mr. Gordon, of St. Louis, and others just from above, give the following account of the battle at Booneville:

"General Lyon landed four miles below town and opened a heavy cannonade against the rebels, who retreated, and dispersed into an adjacent wood, from whence, hidden by brush and trees, they opened a brisk fire on our troops. General Lyon then ordered a hasty retreat to the boats, and the rebels, encouraged by this movement, rallied and followed the Federals into a wheatfield.

"Gen. Lyon halted, faced the troops about and bringing his whole force of artillery to bear opened a murderous fire on the rebels, three hundred of whom were killed and the remainder fled in all directions, leaving their arms on the field. Gen. Lyon then moved forward and took Booneville. Gen. Price was taken with a violent diarrhœa at the beginning of the battle, and was carried to his home in Chaquatan.

"Governor Jackson viewed the battle from a distant hill and fled to parts unknown after the defeat of his forces.

There are great rejoicings among the Union men here. The Stars and Stripes have been hoisted on the capitol, guns fired, and the Star Spangled Banner played by the regimental bands. Scouting parties have been sent in all directions to cut off the retreat of the rebels.

Rebel Troops on the Mississipi.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The Evening Journal says that a gentleman, well known to the editor, passed through the city this morning, direct from Mobile and Memphis. He had opportunities of judging of the strength and condition of the rebels, and he estimated the number encamped between Vicksburg and Cairo at thirty thousand, all well armed. He says that they have a large number of Dahlgren guns.

He also states that there are at Mobile now one hundred thousand Belgian muskets, which had not been unboxed when he left. He also says that the rebel soldiers are eager to go to Cairo, or anywhere else where they can fight the Federal troops, whom they think they can whip easily.

Nine Hundred Rebels Repulsed and Put to Flight.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Accounts of an entirely reliable character, this morning received from Poolsville, dated nine o'clock last night, state that Col. Stone is still there, and not at Leesburg, as heretofore frequently reported. Yesterday afternoon the enemy attempted to make crossing at Goose creek, having arrived opposite Edward's Ferry, in force estimated by officers in command of the guard there, at from eight to nine hundred. They made use of a ferry boat which they had withdrawn from the Potomac river.

Col. Stone had given orders, as he himself communicates, that if any attempt was made to move the boat a fire should be opened on it. In compliance with these orders, Lieut. Hasbrouck fired from his twelve pounder field Howitzer, a spherical case shot, which burst directly in range and covered the boat with a shower of bullets and fragments.

The effect was excellent. The horse of a mounted officer leaped overboard, and the boat was rapidly drawn back to shore. The enemy then formed into line along the crest of the bank, and commenced firing; but a few well directed sperical case shot dispersed them and sent them flying toward Leesburg.

Passage of the Declaration of Independence.

WHEELING, June 17.—In the Convention, to-day, Mr. Pierpont, of Marion, made a strong speech in favor of the Declaration of Independence, reported by the committee on the 13th.

Mr. Dorsey moved that the Declaration be put upon its final passage, calling for the yeas and nays. This was carried, and the yeas stood 56—without a single negative vote. Thirty members were absent on leave.

The Declaration was signed by fifty six members the same number that signed the Declaration of Independence in 1776.

Declaration of the Wheeling Convention.

The following declaration was reported to the Convention on the 13th inst, by the Committee appointed for that purpose.

"The true purpose of all Government it is to promote the welfare and provide for the protection and security of the governed, and when any form or organization of government proves inadequate for, or subversive of this purpose, it is the right, it is the duty, of the latter to alter or abolish it. The Bill of Rights of Virginia framed in 1776 reaffirmed in 1830, and again in 1851, expressly reserves this right to the majority of her people, and the existing Constitution does not, confer upon the General Assembly the power to call a Convention to alter the the provisions or to change the relations of the Commonwealth, without the previously expressed consent of such majority. The act of the General Assembly, calling the Convention which thus called, has not only the power nominally entrusted to it but with the connivance and active aid of the Executive has usurped and exercised other powers, to the manifest injury of the people, which, if permitted, will inevitably subject them to a military despotism.

"The Convention, by its pretended ordinances, has required the people of Virginia to separate from and wage war against the Government of the United States, and against the citizens of neighboring States, with whom they have heretofore maintained friendly, social and business relations.

"It has attempted to subvert the Union founded by Washington and his co-patriots in the purer days of the Republic, which has conferred unexampled prosperity upon every class of citizens and upon every section the country.

"It has attempted to transfer the allegiance of the people to an illegal confederacy of rebellious States, and required their submission to its pretended edicts and decrees.

"It has attempted to place the whole millitary force and military operations of the commonwealth under the control and direction of such confederacy, for offensive as well as defensive purposes.

"It has, in conjunction with the State Executive instituted, wherever their usurped power extends, a reign of terror intended to suppress the free expression of the will of the people, making elections a mockery and a fraud.

"The same combination, even before the passage of the pretended ordinance of Secession, instituted war by the seizure and appropriation of the property of the Federal Government, and by organizing and mobilizing armies, with the avowed purpose of capturing or destroying the capital of the Union.

"They have attempted to bring the allegiance of the people of the United States into direct conflict with their subordinate allegiance to the State, thereby making obedience to their pretended ordinance treason against the former.

"We, therefore, the delegates here assembled in convention to devise such measure and take such action as the safety and welfare of the loyal citizens of Virginia may demand, having mutally considered the premises, and viewing with great concern the deplorable condition in which this once happy Commonwealth must be reduced, unless some regular adequate remedy is speedily adopted, and appealing to the Supreme Ruler of the Universe for the rectitude of our intentions, do hereby, in the name and on the behalf of the good people of Virginia, solemnly declare that the preservation of their dearest rights and liberties, and their security in person and property, imperatively demand the the organization of the government of the Commonwealth, and that all acts of said Convention and Executive, tending to separate this Commonwealth from the United States, or levy and carry on war against them, are without authority and void; and the offices of all who adhere to the said Convention and Executive, whether legislative or judicial, are vacated."

"Never Mind The Grace of It."

The Buffalo Commercial has the following, which is too good to keep:

On Friday, as the members of one of our volunteer companies who were being practiced in the musket drill by a gentleman who, although not one of their corps, was acting as lieutenant for the day, the latter said: "I will teach you the manner of surrendering arms, so in case you will ever have to do it you will know how to do it gracefully." The captain of the company standing near, immediately responded: "Hold on, Lieut., I'll teach them that myself." He seized a musket from a soldier standing near, raised it to his shoulder a moment, as if in the act of firing upon an enemy. Then letting it drop from his hand, he imitated the action of a man shot through the heart, staggered heavily forward and fell upon the piece. He sprang up in a moment and cried: "That's the way this company will surrender arms!" A tremendous shout broke from the ranks, "That's the kind we learn, surrender and die at the same time, never mind the grace of it." And the grace of it" was discarded.

Our Army Correspondence.

CAMP CHAMBERS, June 12.

EDITOR GLOBE:—Truly, night before last was one of amusement on 8d street in Co. C. We have our streets numbered according to letter of company. The boys brought into Camp and planted trees on each side of the streets, and at one end of our street is a large arch in which floats the Stars and Stripes. We had our street illuminated; the Band of the 3d Regiment favored us with some fine music, which wound up with three hearty cheers and a tiger.

Yesterday we received a present of Havelocks from the ladies of Williamsburg, for which they received three times three and a tiger, and the thanks of company C.

Last night company E, of the 3d Regiment gave a grand soiree, which was really imposing; there were several very appropriate addresses, the Band discoursed some sweet music, there were several National songs, cheers and tigers, and at the beat of the tattoo, all went to their respective quarters, well pleased with the evening's entertainment. Our boys are enjoying themselves in the finest manner imaginable. We have a beautiful Camp, which has more the appearance of a floral garden than a Camp ground.

The weather has been very warm for the last few days. We have our Regimental drill at 6½ o'clock a. m., and dress parade at 6 p. m. By this arrangement the boys can lay back through the heat of the day.

Last evening we paid a visit to the Camp of the 14th and 15th Regiments, where we found a number of old acquaintances, among whom were Capt. Joseph Johnston, S. T. Davis, D. Wilson, Fred. Schriver, and others; they all appear to be in good health and spirits; they had just received their equipments, over-coats, &c., &c.

Should anything transpire worthy of note, you shall hear from me soon again. I give you a correct list of the "Wayne Guards, company C, 3d Regiment, P. U. V.

CAMP NEGLEY, Hagerstown, Md.
June 16, 1861.

DEAR GLOBE:—In "Dixie" at last! This forenoon about half past eleven o'clock, the 14th and 15th Regiments of Penna. Volunteers, crossed the line, and are now encamped on the soil of which the boys have been singing for, a considerable length of time. Our camp is situated on an eminence commanding the town, which is about three fourths of a mile distant. Hagerstown is quite a place, and from its present appearance one would readily suppose that it was the heart's chore of loyalty to the Union. But like the old saying, "all is not gold that glitters," there are many of the inhabitants who are rank secessionists.; and until within the last few days, they have been making bold assertions.—Owing, however, to our friendly visit, they are nearly all Union men. Though some cannot keep their mouths shut, and they are taken up daily. Several of our boys arrested one this evening before we were here two hours. Some twenty-five or thirty are under arrest in the county jail.

This evening Gov. Hicks and Gen. Patterson reviewed our two Regiments. The Governor is a fine looking old gentleman, and the majority of the people in this State, applaud him very much; he was greatly cheered when he made his appearance. The old General gave us a very eloquent address from his horse, telling us that he had a glorious work for us to do, and that if he got into trouble he wanted to know whether we would help him out, when the air was rent with the voice of every soldier within the sound of his voice, with a hearty "yes," followed by three cheers—and three groans for our enemy.

The cowardly secessionists have burned Harper's Ferry, and left but one house standing. I suppose they intend retreating down South, thinking we will be green enough to follow them, that they may have the exquisite pleasure of seeing us die like flies, with the yellow fever. Well they may think so, but they will find that we are not such fools as to go into their climate at the hottest season of the year.

This forenoon four regiments waded the Potomac, which wet them to their waists; we expect to play the same game very soon. The 1st Wisconsin Regiment is just marching into our camp. They are a fine body of men, and all armed with Minnie Rifles.

I must close for the present, as it is getting dark.

MONDAY MORNING, June 17.—This morning the 11th Regiment of Penna. Volunteers marched into our field.—Mr. Editor, if you will send me a copy of the Globe regularly, I will faithfully promise that you shall have the straight story of our operations in "Dixie" as long as I can give them, besides a double remuneration should I be permitted to return home. You have no idea how cheering a copy of the Globe is to one who is from home in the army. There was one came into camp the other day, and before I got hold of it, it was perfectly worn out.

Yours in haste,
S. T. D.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

☞ Lines written on the death of John Gibbs, a native of England and member of the Standing Stone Guards, company D, Fifth Pennsylvania Regiment, who, after a few weeks sojourn in America joined the company above named; and died while in service at Alexandria, Va., June 7th 1861:

When desolation's clamorous din
Was heard to sound on freedom's air;
When rebels reared their standard high
And flaunted the mask of treason there;
When rebel chiefs in Freedom's bonds
Arose to break Columbia's might;
When dastard traitors dared to raise
Their feeble arms to face the fight—

'Twas then the freemen of the North
In battle tide arrayed their might,
And gave to virtue, patriotic worth,
Their glowing hearts and fatchion bright.
Among the noble Heaven-born band
That marched to shield the priceless prize,
Was one, who, from a distant land,
Like a Phœnix seemed to rise.

A noble son of English sires,
Who dared to prove to all mankind,
That freedom's steady, smouldering fires,
Still burn in every nation, clime,
Was seen among that hallowed band
That marched to wrest from perjured foes
The sovreign status of the land,
And raise the ensign of the free.

Arm'd with that might which Heaven gives
To speed the cause of freedom's right,
He boldly marched to meet the foe
And put the braggard hordo to flight.

But, alas! how sad to tell the tale,
Before his longing eyes could gaze
On those who dared his flag to trail
Beneath their cursed, unhallowed feet,
Death! cruel, remorseless death!
Seized him as a victim rare,
And like the frost, his native heath,
Laid him low and silent there.

Along he sleeps upon the stream
That passes by our FATHER'S grave,
As it rolls its gorgeous sheen,
Which, glittering, surges o'er the wave.

Sleep on, sleep on, oh! heavenly slumber!
No sound awakes the silent dream.
Around thy tomb the chosen number
Shall guard Potomac's sacred stream
Until the Resurrection morn—
When dust from dust shall rise to reign,
When as a seraph newly born,
We shall see thy form again.

HUNTINGDON, PA., June 20, 1861.

FOURTH OF JULY.—Are we to have a demonstration becoming our National birth-day. We do hope that our citizens will find time amid the excitement of the present crisis, to celebrate the 4th of July in a patriotic and enthusiastic manner. Don't let our neighbors throw us in the shade by their devotion to that day. We suggest that the drums be brought out, and our citizens turn out en masse, and repair to some suitable place, and have a good old-fashioned time. Let old and young join, together and show their devotion to our notable birthday. Let us remember the struggles of our forefathers and the awful condition in which we find ourselves today, which is even more deplorable and to be lamented than the conflict our fathers went through at an earlier time. Let all business be suspended and everything be forgotten, except the day we are celebrating, and our brave soldiers who have gone to fight the battles of right, that our children's children may inherit what was left to us as a precious inheritance. Let us do it.

THAT PICNIC.—The picnic that came off at McCahan's Grove on Tuesday afternoon was the picnic of the season. About one hundred persons were in attendance, of all ages, sizes and color, and if they did not have a superb time, we would not say so. Four musicians were present, and music and dancing and the devouring of good things, was the order of the day.—Those who did not trip the light fantastic toe," amused themselves at other games as highly entertaining.—The table groaned under the load of delicacies spread before the party, and they were of such a quality too, as to please the most fastidious epicure to be found. We were highly gratified with the entertainment, and would not hesitate to repast at a very early season. Go in ladies and get up something more. We become tired and weary of the excitement occasioned by the war, and a little relaxation gives us new life and vigor, and we are prepared to enter the contest again with ten fold more strength.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK FOR $1 00.—To meet the times, the Sixty-third volume of Godey will be sent to subscribers for One Dollar. This volume comprises the six best numbers of the year, and will contain seven steel engravings, six of the large double extension fashion-plates, and all the winter cloak patterns.

OUR CORRESPONDENCE.

WALKER TOWNSHIP, June 17, '61.

MR. EDITOR:—I have been eagerly perusing every issue of the Globe for some time, thinking to see a correspondent from Walker, but it appears our literary men, if really possessing the ability, are wanting the brass to report an item from our worthy township, and I am determined, rather than seeing it wholly eclipsed, to pitch in myself.

Last Saturday was a big day at McConnellstown; the Home Guards of Marklesburg were down and joined with our red jackets in a grand parade. Dr. Wintrode is an able and proficient officer, and I would venture to say that he could raise a hundred uniformed men here without any difficulty. His men all look well and readily exhibit, by their expertness in drill, the Doctor's ability in the manual of arms. The spectators were numerous, never seeing a crowd in town to surpass it. After the various processes of parading were gone through with, the Dr. made quite a patriotic speech on the importance of acquiring military knowledge, after which three cheers were given for McConnellstown and vicinity, three for the ladies and three deafening groans for old Jeff. and the Southern Confederacy. Dr. please call again soon.

Perhaps you'll hear from Walker again.

BRUTUS.

☞ One of the Massachusetts soldiers, who were attacked by the mob in Baltimore, said he saw a man with three stones under his arm and another in his hand, ready to throw at the troops. The soldier fired on the rowdy, and he says "the man dropped the bricks and laid down."

Senator Andrew Johnson Speaks in Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 19.—Senator Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, arrived here en route for Washington.—He made a three hours' speech here last night to a very large audience, and of the most positive and unconditional Union tone, for maintaining the Government. He said East Tennessee would never leave the Union, if armed to prevent their subjugation. His remarks were well received and warmly applauded.
